PHILADELPHIA WINS TODAY

Line of Ticket Purchasers Extends Over Nine Squares.

SUNSHINE IS GREETED

Athletics Defeat Giants in Third Game of World's Series by 8 to 2 Today.

Polo Grounds, Oct. 9—The Athletics were winners over the Giants in today's battle. Bush being opposed by Tesreau—Score 8 to 2.

Polo Grounds, New York, Oct. 9.—With the weather clearing up, the last grand stand seat was sold at 12:30 this afternoon. The field was in fairly good condition for the third game of the world's series. It was in much better shape than the Shibe Park field was yesterday. Only a heavy rain will prevent the game from going to a finish, even if it does drizzle a bit more.

At this hour the crowd in line extended nine blocks at the ticket office but the fans were being disposed of rapidly. They crowded into the bleachers.

At 12:40 indications were that today's crowd would equal that which turned out for the first game. At least 20,000 appeared to be in their seats at that time.

Bush and Tesrau are baters for day's game.

CHILD FIGURES IN SHOOTING.

Woman Had it in Arms When Wealthy Coal Man Killed Her.

Uniontown, Pa., Oct. 9.—Further development in the killing of Mrs. Hannah N.Jackson,the pretty young divorcee, of Masontown, near here, Tuesday night by George W. Strauble, the wealthy retired farmer and coal operator, took on a new significance yesterday when Byron Hosteter, the young man who was riding with the couple in the buggy, testified that Stauble had shot the woman while she had a little child in her arms.

The child was one that had been adopted by the young woman's family some time ago, and she had takit it to Masontown to be treated by a physician.

According to the authorities, after Mrs. Jackson had jumped out of the buggy she picked up a stone and hit Strauble with it, and then he shot her while she was holding the child in her arms.

Strauble declares the young woman was shot accidentally while struggling with him for the revolver.

PITCHED BATTLE IN STREETS.

One of The Strikers Probably Fatally Wounded When Aliens Resist Arrest of Comrade.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 9.—Four men were injured, one of them fatally, and many others escaped narrowly being struck by bullets in a pitched battle at 5:20 o'clock yesterday morning between striking miners of the Aleghany County Coal Company and two town constables in front of the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Cheswick.

When Constable Grant Shaner and Deputy Constable Bourlan went to the mine Tuesday evening to serve a warrant on a foreigner, several of his friends refused to allow the constables to take their prisoner. When the constables began taking the man away, a comrade, it is alleged, opened fire. A moment later he fell with a bullet in his abdomen.

Three state troopers were sent to Cheswick, following the shooting and it is expected that more will be sent The miners went out on strike last Monday morning, following the reported refusal of the company to recognize the miners' union. About 450 men are on strike.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Existence of what he termed "tommyrot songs" in church hymnals was deplored by the Rev. G. F. Sutherland, D. D., missionary editor of the publications of his church, in the course of an address on "Methods of Missionary Instruction," delivered yesterday afternoon at the afternoon session of the Sunday School Institute of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the Washington district of the Baltimore conference, held in McKendree Church, Washington. Nearly one hundred Sunday school workers, ministers, and deleGates were present. "The tommy-rot' songs that are sometimes sung in our churches are worse than no songs at all," said Dr. Sutherland. "I can find no expression that better characterizes them. I hope the time will soon come when these songs that sing us into selfishness—the 'I and me' kind—will be replaced in our hymnal by the strong songs that breathe a spirit of helpfulness and service."

Striking coal miners and mine guards clashed at the strikers' tent colony, Ludlow, Colo., Tuesday. One guard was shot through the leg, two horses were killed from under mine guards, and many houses were riddled with bullets. The shooting started when officials of the Victor mine reached the tent colony in an automobile bound for Hastings. The party turned back and obtained an escort of six mounted armed guards. On their return the firing became a fusillade until the arrival of the sheriff's force.

Federal General Alvarez and his staff, and 125 federal soldiers were executed Tuesday in Torreron, Mexico, under orders of General Francisco Villa, of the constitutional forces, according to information from reliable sources brought to Laredo. With the city of Torreron, the rebels captured practically all of the federals' arms, and artillery. The battle lasted four days with heavy losses to both sides.

W. B. Burnett, of Athens, Ark., and Fred Storer, of Bonham, Tex., shot each other to death yesterday in a bloody battle. Storer's eleven-year-old daughter looked on the fight, and when her father called for more cartridges to reload his revolver, the child carried them to him. The bodies of the men were riddled with bullets.

One lone banker of the 4,000 attending the American Bankers' Association convention in Boston yesterday refused to indorse the resolutions passed at Chicago denouncing the administration and demanding radical amendments to the currency bill.

Without waiting to hear all the testimony, State's Attorney Weant had to offer, the jury of inquest yesterday evening at Westminster, Md., after a few moments deliberation, returned a verdict that Miss Ella Warfield had died from suicide from some poison, probably cyanide of potassium.

A heavy hail storm, succeeded by a cloudburst and a high wind, broke over the western part of St. Louis yesterday, flooding streets, breaking windows and sign boards. The rain fell so rapidly that the sewers could not carry off the water and the sidewalks were flooded. Forest Park was strewn with birds killed by the hail.

Steps were taken by the administration last night to bring about the prompt repeal of the 5 per cent, preferential clause in the new tariff law, which threatens to involve the United States in serious tariff controversies with foreign governments if enforced. Officials of the State and Treasury Department's are entirely in accord as to the urgent desirability of the repeal of the clause, and Senator Simmons, of the Finance Committee, has indicated that the proposed action is most agreeable to him.

While suffering from religious dementia, William McDonald, a young church worker, of Liverpool, Eng., killed three fellow parishoners of the Church of Humanity, then committed suicide yesterday. The maniac's last murder victim was Miss Alice Compton, daughter of a clergymen, and his own religious instructress. McDonald killed himself in Miss Compton's apartments.

WOULD THWART MINORITY LEADER

Dominant Party Uses every Means to Keep Quorum Present.

CLARK HASTENS BACK

Democratic Senators Yielding to Wishes of Administration and Will Pass Currency Bill.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The House will make a third attempt this afternoon to get a quorum and to thwart Minority Leader Mann and the Republicans who have held up business for two days with a demand that the Democratic majority keep a working force here if President Wilson insists upon keeping Congress in session.

Speaker Clark, who has been absent three days, is expected to reach the Capitol in time to preside over the session today. It was said at the Speaker's office early this morning that he is hastening back from Wheeling, W. Va. The Speaker, not anticipating a Republican filibuster, accepted invitations to deliver addresses at Knoxville, Lousiville, and Wheeling, designating Mr. Sherley as Speaker pro tem. Then Mr. Mann got busy with his point of no quorum, and has kept the House deadlocked since Tuesday.

When adjournment was taken yesterday afternoon the House still needed twenty-one members to make a quorum. The Sergeant-at-Arms has telegraphed a sufficient number of absentees, but it required time to get them back to Washington. Democratic leaders said this morning that they expected a quorum to develop when the roll was called today.

With Democratic Senators grumbling and growling about the corridors and cloakrooms and in the privacy of their offices because of the Administration efforts to force them to hurry the currency bill to passage and with some of the Democratic members of the Senate Banking and Currency Committee resentful of the criticisms which are being leveled at them in attempts to hurry the bill along, the situation today as to currency legislation continued to be the subject of discussion both at the Capitol and in White House circles.

The fact the American Bankers' Association, in convention at Boston, has gone on record against the pending bill adds to the interest in the currency struggle.

However, the signs grow that Administration pressure on Democratic Senators is having its effect. The best informed predictions today are that the currency bill, with some modifications, will be passed either late in the special session or early in the regular session.

According to the latest predictions, nearly all the Democratic Senators and some of the Republicans will line up for the bill. Unless there is a much stronger reaciton against the administration movement to force the bill through than now appears, the chances favor enactment of the measure with alterations as to details, but with essential principles left as they are.

SNAKE SHE KILLED WAS PET.

Loser in Battle With Woman Given Funeral by Actors.

Federalsburg, Md., Oct. 9.—When Mrs. Wm. T. Adams entered a room with a broom to sweep it Tuesday she spied what she thought was a piece of rope wrapped around one of the chairs. Seizing the supposed rope she was horrified to feel it wriggle in her hands and to discover it was a snake. A lively battle ensued in which the woman and broom came out victorious.

Upon investigation she found the reptile was a pet snake belonging to a theatrical troupe stopping at her husband's hotel. The players were deeply grieved when they learned of its death and followed its remains to their last resting place on the banks of the Nanticoke.

POLICE COURT NOTES.

Negro Alleges he was Robbed—Delinquent Husband Threatened With the Roads.

There were but two cases before the Police Court this morning. James Jefferson, colored, had caused Martin Ford, colored, to be arraigned on suspicion of stealing over $21 from him. According to Jefferson, he had received a check for his wages from the contractors who are building the dam for the Alexandria Water Company at Barcroft. He came to this city and had it cashed in a saloon in the western section of the city. He expended a dollar and a half in liquor, and later found that his pocketbook, containing over $21, had been taken from his hip pocket. The pocketbook was later found on the sidewalk in front of the saloon. He alleged that Ford was with him when he entered another saloon and he was confident he took his money.

Ford, in his defense, said Jefferson spent $2.50 in liquor in the first saloon, and that in the second saloon which they visited several other men were standing around.

In the absence of evidence, Justice Caton dismissed Ford.

A white man residing in the western section of the city was next brought in. His wife was the complainant. She and her son alleged that the mind of the paterfamilias had become confused by the excessive use of liquor, that he was abusive and threatening to the members of his household.

The defendant was penitent and when asked by justice which course would he prefer to be—have himself towards his family and renounce liquor, or serve six months on the roads, he announced his determination to turn over a new leaf. The accused was then dismissed with the assurance that should he reappear to answer similar charges in the future he would be turned over to road guards.

Funeral Services Tonight—Resolutions of Respect to her Memory.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Anna Matthews, president of the Allison W. C. T. U., and conected with the Children's Home, will be held at her residence, 213 north Fairfax street tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The remains will be shipped to Royersford Pa., tomorrow morning The members of W. C. T. U., and board of the home will meet at the home tonight at 7 o'clock and accompanied by the children of the home, will attend the body.

The following resolutions of regret at her death were passed by both organizations at special meetings held yesterday.

Whereas God has called from our midst, Mrs. Mary Matthews, President of the Allison W. C. T.U., under whose auspices the Children's Home is conducted, be it resolved

That in Mrs. Matthews death we lose one whose heart and life was wrapped up in the service of humanity and in which service she continued until she was called to that higher realm where she meets with her just reward. Of Mrs. Matthews it may be truly said, "Greater love hath no man than he lay down his life for a friend," for she served all who needed her whether taxing her strength or not. She will be missed wherever a friend for the friendless is wanted, wherever a kind heart and human sympathy are needed and wherever untiring patience is called for her noble qualities of heart mark her as one whose example we should follow. Through her death the Children's Home has lost a dear friend and earnest worker.

Be it resolved also that this expression of our gratitude for a faithful worker be placed upon the minutes of our record book and published in our newspapers and a copy be sent to the husband and family to whom our heartfelt sympathies are extended in their bereavement. We trust that these resolutions may be of some little comfort to them in learning of our appreciative regard for the departed one.

(Signed.)

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Young Woman Drives Over Embankment And is Pinned Under Machine.

Bristol, Tenn., Oct. 9.—Miss Hildreth Hunter, nineteen years old, and a beautiful society girl of Elizabethton, Tenn., is in a dying condition while three others are seriously injured, as a result of the wreck of Miss Hunter's big high powered touring car on the pike between Elizabethon and Johnson City yesterday. The car, weighing five thousand pounds, held Miss Hunter pinned to the ground for thirty minutes after the accident. The bones in her breast were all broken and one lung was punctured. She is still unconscious, and physicians offer no hope. She is a daughter of Walter E. Hunter, a wealthy capitalist of New York, and Elizabethton.

Others injured were:—Evelyn Scutt, arm fractured and bruised; Howard Clarke, twenty-three, three ribs broken and other injuries, and Miss Hunter's chauffeur, who sat on the front seat with her.

Miss Hunter had been at the wheel only a few minutes when some one made a remark from the rear seat, she turned to reply and as she did the big car swerved from the road and plunged down an embankment. The chauffeur grabbed for the wheel, but the car had already left the pike, and a moment later the girl was pinned under it while the others were helpless.

Farm hands were secured from a mile away to lift the weight of the car from the girl's almost lifeless body.

Kelly lifted the unconscious boy into the automobile and took him to Flower Hospital, where he soon died. Kelly reported the accident to the police, but as witnesses held him blameless he was allowed to go.

DANCES ON MONUMENT.

Paint-Smeared, Gagged And Beaten is Story of Syracuse Woman.

Syracuse, N. Y., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, 22 years old, employed as a cook at the Phi Delta Theta chapter house in this city, told the police yesterday she had been smeared with paint, gagged and beaten into insensibility Tuesday night on University Hill by two men, one of whom, she said, was a Syracuse sophomore.

Mrs. Anderson last night lay on her bed in the chapter house suffering from an aching head and back. Her story was told in brief paragraph. It seemed difficult for her to walk. She said:

"I went into the fraternity house backyard to remove some washed clothes from the clothesline. As I was removing the clothes from the line one of the young men ran up behind me, striking me over the head with his fist. I screamed, but my cries were not heard. The man placed his hand over my mouth to prevent me from making more of an outcry. His cofpanions then appeared on the scene and the two of them grabbed me by the hair and dragged me five blocks to Oakwood cemetery.

"Leading me into the cemetery, they proceeded to a far corner of the grounds. They had me blindfolded and my hands tied. Then they smeared me wth white paint, the stuff being soaked into my hair and it dripped down over my face and hands and clothes. The cloth over my eyes was removed and a glass of bitter liquid given to me to drink. I refused and pleaded with the men to release me. My pleadings were of no avail, and I was knocked down, my nose held and the liquid poured into my mouth.

"I was next ordered to mount one of the monuments in the cemetery. Beating me with the strap, the men finally forced me to climb to the top of the monument. With more stinging lashes of the strap buckle, I was forced to dance on the top of the monument. This continued for more than ten minutes. Then I was ordered to jump to the ground. This I refused to do until the men pushed me from the high stone.

"Again I pleaded with my captors to release me, but they only struck me with the belt and answered, "It's just a litle fresh medicine.' I kicked one of the men, and then he returned to the attack, kicking me in the stomach. I fell to the ground and groaned. Fearing that the kick had been serious, the men left me and ran away."

EVERY EPISCOPAL BISHOP PRESENT

Big Cathedral Crowded—Impressive Ceremony At Opening.

MARCH OF BISHOPS

Religious Education For All Theme of the Opening Discourse at Convention.

New York, Oct. 9.—The Cathedral of St. John the Divine, now but a promise of its future magnificence, could not hold the great throng which gathered yesterday for the opening of the triennial general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in America. In the morning there was a service of devotion and business sessions began in the afternoon.

It is 24 years since the general convention met in New York, and not since then has there been any concourse here of the leaders of the church to compare with the present notable assemblage. The members of the House of Deputies, 610 in number, equally divided among clerical and lay delegate, were seated in the cathedral with several hundred invited guests, both men and women, when the 113 bishops marched from the old synod house, through a drizzling rain and took their seats in the choir loft. The robes and the symbols of the church borne in the procession made an impressive display.

Of the 115 members of the House of Bishops two only were missing, Bishop Garrett, of Dallas, Tex., whose advanced age prevented his coming, and Bishop Hall ,of Vermont, who is ill. Bishop Greer, of New York, presided, but in the great procession Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, by right of seniority, walked in the place of honor, the end of the line.

Religious education was the principal theme of the sermon by Bishop Lawrence, of Massachusetts, who said religious instruction should not be confined to any one agency or system, but should pervade every avenue of life. His text was, "This is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith," and he pointed out the advantages offered by the independence of the Episcopal Church in the United States, and by the fact that laymen sit in its councils.

What was looked upon as the first test of voting strength between the High Church and Low Church factions came late in the day when Rev. Dr. Alexander Mann,rector of Trinity Church, Boston, was elected president of the House of Deputies. He was the candidate of the Low Church element, and defeated Rev. Dr. W. T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, New York, by the vote of 250 to 242.

The president wields a strong influence in the counsels of the House of Deputies, and the election of Dr. Mann was regarded by members of the Low Church party as a substantial victory. One result of the vote, some of them declared, would be that the question of changing the denominational name probably would not be placed before the convention. High Church delegates asserted, on the other hand, that the vote was too close to give any indication what course legislation would take.

The House of Bishops at an executive business meeting elected Bishop Boyd Vincent, of Ohio, chairman and re-elected, Dr. Samuel Hart, of Connecticut, secretary. A memorial, presented by Bishop Alfred Harding, of Washington, proposing a constitutional amendment providing for a revised method of repesentation in the House of Deputies, was referred to a committee on amendments and constitution, yet to be appointed.

WANTS ALL TO VOTE

Representation Based on Number of Democratic Ballots Cast

With the object of securing a large vote for the Democratic ticket at the election of State officers, which will take place on November 4th, Charles Bendheim, chairman of the City Democratic Committee, will shortly call a meeting of his committee for the purpose of making plans to get out the vote.

For the first time in the history of Virginia, the Democratic candidate for Governor, Henry C. Stuart, of Southwest Virginia, has no opponent either in the Democratic primary or in the general election which is soon to take place. No Democrat could be found who would enter the race and the Republicans failed to place a ticket in the field.

In addition to the regular State ticket the voters will be called up to cast their ballots for the various officials in Alexandria who hold their commissions from the Commonwealth, such as the clerk of courts, commonwealth attorney and justices of the peace. J. Fred Birrell, of this city, is the Democratic candidate for the Virginia House of Delegates.

Although there is no opposition to the Democratic ticket, the committee is anxious to have a large Democratic vote polled, as the representation of Alexandria on State Democratic Committees and in conventions is based on the number of votes polled.

Famous Whittall RUGS

The famous Whittall Rugs are the highest achievement in the art of weaving rugs by machinery. Into their making, for more than a generation, have gone the finest materials and painstaking care. Every thread of wool is imported from the mountainous regions of Persia, Afghanistan, and Caucasus. Every particle of dyestuff is tested repeatedly; every improvement that inventive genius can suggest is utilized in their smooth, lustrous finish.

Whittall rugs rival the Oriental in both pattern and texture; practically the only difference between them and the Oriental Rug is in the making. Oriental Rugs are made by human fingers, while steel fingers weave every thread of the famous Whittall makes. A wonderful range of exquisite designs and colorings; rugs adapted to every purpose, living room, dining room, library, &c.

We invite every one interested in floro coverings to see our new fall patterns.

Prices range for the Anglo-Persian from size 22x36 inches, at $4.25; to size 11 ft. 3-in. by 15 ft., at $102.

QUARREL OVER CHESTNUTS.

Now Negro Man is Dead and Negro Woman is in Jail.

Danville, Va., Oct. 9.—As the result of a quarrel late Tuesday afternoon which originated over the purchase of chestnuts to be sold in the store on Craighead street, which the couple were running as partners, Will Davis, colored, lies dead in a local undertaking establishment, and Mary Beard, also colored, is in jail charged with murder.

According to a statement made by the woman a few minutes after the shooting, Davis, after quarreling with her, cursed her and grabbed a butcher knife used in cutting cheese in the store and make at her with an oath, saying that he intended killing her. Fearing that he would make good his threat and believing her life in danger, she ran behind the counter, picked up a pistol and told him to halt. He failing to stop as directed, she fired three shots at him. Davis then ran out of the store and for about thirty yards down the street, falling on the pavement. Still unaware that she had inflicted fatal injuries to her partner, and without looking around to see, she says she ran to the court house with the smoking pistol in her hand and gave herself up, telling Chief J. R. Bell that she had shot Davis.

So far as known there were no eye witnesses to the shooting but the statements of the officers who were on the scene a few minutes afterwards bear out the tale told by the woman.

RICHMOND DAY AT FAIR.

Greate Throngs Attend, Notwithstanding Weather.

Richmond, Va., Oct. 9.—Early yesterday afternoon the immense throng moving across the concrete bridge, and stretching unbroken to the grand stand entrance of the fair gave evidence that the rain hoodoo had been broken, and that Richmond Day, 1913, intended to go down in fair history with a record as honorable as those of the seven that have gone before.

By 3 o'clock the enlarged grandstand, with a capacity of 6,000 was packed to the aisles, and late comers began forming the phalanx around the race track fence that an hour or two later stood six deep. The quadrangle inside the grandstand inclosure held 1,000 provided with good stand privileges which could not be made good, and the grounds in general took on the appearance of Richmond Day as of old.

Between the opening of the gates in the morning and their closing at midnight, 50,000 people it is estimated, filed into the the enclosure.

General Manager Warwick, as becomes the chief engineer of the exposition, declined to permit the attendance to fall below 80,000. The grandstand, he said, was larger, the midway was jammed and the grounds were packed. It was impossible to say with certainty, but he thought 80,000 as an outside guess was not too liberal.

FIRES BULLET INTO BRAIN.

Hoping His Girl Wouldn't Blame him, Italian Takes his Life.

Richmond, Oct. 9.—Despondent because of business troubles, Tesco Croce, thirty years old, connected with the grocery firm of A. Bonini & Co., on West Broad street, committed suicide early yesterday by shooting himself through the head with a small caliber revolver.

Croce took his life in a rear room of the store at 729 West Marshall street, which is said to be operated by his brother. Going to the place soon after 5 o'clock yesterday morning, he went into a rear room and after taking off his coat fired the revolver ball into his brain. Just as he did so Croce's brother entered the place to open up for the day, and being frightened by the pistol shot ran to the Second Police station, a short distance away, and reported that burglars were in his place.

Accompanied by Patrolman Whitlock, he went back to the store and found Croce's body lying on the floor, and although there were still signs of life, death ensued in a few moments.

In the suicide's pockets were found a bundle of papers bearing on a partnership court proceedings in which he was involved and also an unaddressed note written in Italian, in which he hoped that his girl, whose name was not mentioned, would not blame him for failing to make good in business. The papers were turned over to Coroner Taylor, who later conducted an investigation and pronounced the case to be one of suicide.

The court proceedings referred to in the papers have reference to a chancery case recently instituted in the Hustings Court by Bonini & Co., with a view of having the partnership dissolved it appears. In these proceedings Chasi Trafieri, prominent Italian citizen of Richmond, was named receiver.

FIRE IN ASHLAND.

Power Plant Badly Damaged Early Yesterday.

Richmond, Oct. 9.—Ashland's power-house for the water, gas and sewer plant was badly damaged by fire at 3 o'clock yesterday morning, being placed out of commission temporarily.

The fire is understood to have begun when gasoline was being taken from a tank for the engines. The fire spread with great rapidity, destroying the building in which the engines were located.

An examination was made just as soon as the fire was gotten under control, and it is believed that the company will be able to turn on water today.

FEWER AND BETTER NEWSPAPERS.

The Roanoke Times, commenting on the death of a newspaper in Page county, says:

"With regret we observe that one of our weekly contemporaries in Page county, after a useful and honorable career, has been compelled to suspend publication. The other day we announced the sale of the Radford Record for an amount considerably less than the mortgage upon it. It is understood, however, that the Record, which is a very lively and aggressive publication, is to be continued. Yet the trend of the times unquestionably is toward newspaper consolidation and combination.

"Within the last few years the mortality, especially in the cities, has been severe. About this time last year the Lynchburg Progress began its life under the most flattering and apparently favorable conditions. It was said to have a cash capital of $100,000, of which more than $20,000 was invested in the plant. It was directed by a capable and trained newspaper man, whose ability may be understood from the fact that before he came to Lynchburg he was managing editor of the Washington Herald, and now he is city editor of a great newspaper like the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

"Yet the Progress lived less than ten months, although it represented a political movement and sentiment supposed to be widely popular.

"Here in Roanoke we have had an afternoon newspaper which began publication in the midst of the strike excitement and which presumably had behind it the enthusiastic support of organized labor. It lived, we believe, about a month, notwithstanding the fact that it commanded the services of bright writers and experienced newspaper men, thoroughly familiar with the local field. In Newport News and in Norfolk, as in Lynchburg, one afternoon and one morning newspaper supply local requirements and give the public all the service it desires and will pay for. In Roanoke the position is the same. All this is the natural result of changing conditions. Newspapers now are not personal or political organs. They become more liberal constantly, and open their columns to people of all shades of opinion. The day of the personal or factional organ is gone. So has the time passed when with a few hundred dollars, a small coterie of enthusiastic backers, and friends, and a group of local political interests, a man could organize a newspaper and operate it indefinitely. Now a plant and an adequate supply of white paper costs more than used to be needed to operate a four-page ten to fifteen years ago. We are approaching gradually something like ideal newspaper conditions, in which daily newspapers with less than 20,000 to 30,000 circulation will not be considered by advertisers; when they will be sold cheaply because of many customers, while costing heavily to produce, and will be open to the public they serve for frank and free discussion of all topics and questions in which the public is interested."

The Times does not tell half the story of the Virginia papers that have failed during the present year. It says nothing about the situation in Harrisonburg where a newspaper fight cost some people over $100,000 and where the Daily Record and the Times went out of existence leaving one consolidated paper. Nor does it mention the passing of the Alexandria Daily News after a hard struggle or the death of the Petersburg afternoon edition of the Index Appeal or the recent consolidation in Norfolk and Roanoke.

Anxious Mother Finds Missing Son in Hospital.

Lynchburg, Va., Oct. 9.—Several days ago an 18-year-old boy staggered into the office of a physician here and announced that he was sick. A hurried examination showed that the boy was very ill, and he was hurried to a private hospital, where, for some time, he was unable to recall his identity. After a time, however, his name came back to him, and he said he was John Jones, of Chesterfield county, and the son of a wealthy farmer. Last night a woman carrying a baby in her arms, accompanied by a grown son, went to the hospital and identified the lad as her son, who had been missing for more than a year. She said her name was Mrs. John Totch, and she had come to take the boy home. This she will do as soon as he is able to leave the hospital, for he now seems to have seen enough of the world to go home and remain there.

FATAL EFFECT OF JOKE.

Lad Chokes to Death After Hearing Father Tell Story.

Bellefontaine, O., Oct. 9.—Ned McCracken, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George McCracken, choked to death at the dinner table while laughing at a joke told by his father.

Mr. McCracken related how a little girl told her mother she had seen a lion in the park. When she said her prayers that night, the mother said: "Mary, ask God to forgive you for that fib." On rising from her knees,the little one declared: "I did mamma, and He said, "Don't mention it, Mary; that big dog has fooled Me, too."

Convulsed with laughter, little Ned choked on a piece of potato, and a few minutes later was dead.

MINISTER BLAMES BASEBALL

Says Interest in World's Series Is Greater Than in Church Work.

Washington, Oct. 9—More interest is taken in the world's series baseball struggle than in the spiritual welfare of the youth of the nation, in the opinion of Rev. E. S. Lewis, who told members of the Board of Sunday-Schools of the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church that a reformation was imperative.

"Our lessons from the Sunday Schools are deplorable," said Dr. Lewis, "The failure to hold the boys and girls in the church is the darkest cloud on our horizon. There appears to be more interest in the world's series baseball games than in the spiritual welfare of the boy and girls."

One third, or 8,000,000 of the children of the country today were outside the Sunday school, speakers asserted, while 80 per cent. of those who did attend classes were later lost to the church.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Rabbi Solomon Schaffer and four of his children were found dead from escaping illuminating gas in their flat in New York yesterday. The rabbi's wife, Mrs. Mollie Schaffer and her daughter Rebecca, were removed from the flat in an unconscious condition, and it is believed they will not recover. Mrs. Schaffer said the accident occurred through the failure of one of the family to turn off a jet on the gas stove before the family retired.

HELPLESS AS BABY

Down in Mind Unable to Work, and What Helped Her.

Summit Point, W. Va.—Mrs. Anna Belle Emey, of this place, says: "I suffered for 15 years with an awful pain in my right side, caused from womanly trouble, and doctored lots for it, but without success. I suffered so very much, that I became down in mind, and as helpless as a baby. I was in the worst kind of shape. Was unable to do any work.

I began taking Cardui, the woman's tonic, and got relief from the very first dose. By the time I had taken 12 bottles, my health was completely restored. I am now 48 years old, but feel as good as I did when only 16.

Cardui certainly saved me from losing my mind, and I feel it my duty to speak in its favor. I wish I had some power over poor, suffering women, and could make them know the good it would do them."

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, it will certainly be worth your while to give Cardui a trial. It has been helping weak women for more than 50 years, and will help you, too.

Try Cardui. Your druggist sells it.

Child Cured by Hypnotism.

London, Eng., Oct. 9.—A cure of blindness by hypnotism is claimed by Alexander Erskine, in a lecture before the International Club for Psychical Research.

A young London girl, Gertrude Yates, was born blind, but the machinery of the eye was intact. She merely lacked the will power to transmit to the brain objects reflected on the retina. The deficiency was supplied by the hypnotist lecturer, who produced the girl on the platform and showed she possessed the faculty of sight.

CONSTABLE SLAIN.

Robber Surprised Attempting to Enter Postoffice.

Salisbury, Mass., Oct. 9.—A man hunt has been started here and in neighboring cities following the shooting, early today, of Constable William W. Heath, who surprised yeggmen attempting to rob the postoffice. Heath died almost instantly.

State police were aroused and set patrolling the roads in automibles, while police of Boston and other cities were notified and watched incoming trains.

The yeggmen sneaked across a field to the Boston and Maine Railroad tracks. Here all trace of the men were lost.

Several dynamite caps, a fuse, an axe, two steel boundary stakes used by the State highway commission, and two drills were found on the floor of the postoffice.

Albert Collins, night watchman of the Salisbury car barns discovered the yeggs and summoned Constable Heath by telephone. They met in Salisbury square and started across the street to the postoffice. They had gone but a short distance when a voice from the darkness commanded them to stop. Neither was armed, but they kept on. A second command was followed by the report of a revolver, and a bullet sped between them.

Heath caught sight of a man crouched around the corner of the postoffice and rushed at him. The yeggmen fired a second time and the constable fell dead.

NAVAL PROGRAM.

Daniels to Ask For Three Dreadnaughts.

Washington, Oct. 9.—The long-waited program of the Secretary of the navy for the building of additional battleships will be sumitted to the Secretary of the Treasury on October 15. Before its final touches are received, Secretary Daniels will submit the entire proposition for the approval of President Wilson. It is understood that the Secretary will recommend three dreadnaughts if he can effect economies, which he contemplates.

Thus far the President has not given his official sanction to the ideas of the Secretary of the navy, having recently told callers that, until he had been given oportunity to confer with members of the House and Senate Naval Affairs Committee he preferred to keep his mind open on the subject.

The general board of the navy, in its report to the Secretary, recommended a four-battleship program, it is understood, but members of the board are said to be well satisfied with the prospect of getting three ships of the highest class.

BET HIS LIFE AND LOST IT.

Fan Committed Suicide When New York Lost First Game.

New York, Oct. 9.—One life was staked on the Giants winning the opening game Tuesday. The man who laid the bet with death was George M. Sill, who kept a restaurant in 3rd avenue and had an oyster business at the foot of Pike street. His body, self-slain, was found in his home over the Third Avenue restaurant yesterday morning. The story of the tragic wager was told to the police by the dead man's son, who is associated in the management of the restaurant.

"Father," said he, was a Giant fan. He owed $5,000, due in a few days. He had worried over the debt and told me some days ago he did not see how he could raise the money. When I got back from the restaurant he heard the news from the game and was very blue. Then he confided to me that he had bet all the money he could get hold of on the Giants. It was the only way he could think of to raise the $5,000, and save the oyster business, he said."

MEASURE VOTED DOWN.

North Carolina Legislature Put Initiative and Referendum To Sleep.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 9.—The House in committee of the whole has defeated the bill to forbid the reading of the Bible in the public schools, took similar action with regard to the initiative and referendum, which was valiantly championed by Mr. Justice and vigorously opposed by Mr. Doughton and referred for second time the section relating to the levy of a capitation tax. So far as the House is concerned the constitutional amendments have practically been settled one way or the other. The house also voted to kill the bill for a new building for the department of agriculture, an amendment by Mr. Dowd that was previously adopted providing that the building be erected at the A. & M. College, being largely responsible.

Do You Need any Advice From a Printer?

If you are a business man there are lots of matters that come before you in the Printers' line that need attention. Possibly you want to send out a letter soliciting trade.

Again, you may want to prepare an attractive circular setting forth the advantages of the lines of goods you have for sale. And still again you may have a line of goods that you feel sure the public would buy if they only appreciated the advantages of your particular line.

You know that you want these things and at the same time you feel that you cannot spare the time to study out just what you wish to say. We know this because a lot of business men in Alexandria have told us so.

The next time this happens to be the case with you, Telephone the BARRETT PRESS and a member of the firm will call to see you and help you out on the matter. Our many years of experience is at your service. Do not hesitate to do this, because that is our business.
